

A FAMILY JAR.

Kesler Listens to a Tale of Matrimonial Woes.

A Suit for Damages—The Minute Mine in Court—General Legal News All Around the Circle.

Jack Hobbs was before Judge Kesler yesterday, charged with disturbing the peace. The complaining witness was his wife. He pleaded guilty, but said it was only a little quarrel. His wife said that they had four children, the eldest being 11 years old, and that he would not provide for her support. She cared very little about that, but he abused her and called her disgraceful names. He came home a night or two ago and said he'd knock her down; she grabbed for a razor and threatened to cut him up, and then he threw her out of the door.

Jack said he was sorry, but if the judge would let him go he would leave town and stay away for six months, and also send what money he could toward the support of his children.

The court said that he had been up before him four times and had made promises that had never been fulfilled, and would give him ten days in which to thoroughly sober up.

Another Minute Suit.

Samuel F. Spencer yesterday filed a suit against James G. McAllister and Joseph P. Bacha. He sets forth that in the latter part of 1891 W. R. Smith and wife let to the plaintiff the Minute mine, with the option of buying it for the sum of $4,000 on or before the following July. He then entered into a contract with the defendants, by the terms of which they were to work the mine and pay a royalty for the privilege, he agreeing to sell the property to the defendants on July 1 for $5,000; but instead of doing so they bought the property from Smith and his wife and then ceased to work the mine. Wherefore he prays for $2,500 damages and interest, together with the costs of the suit.

A Suit for Damages.

Some days ago Henry S. Norrell brought suit against George Brennan, claiming as due them $133.22, and also complained that he was about to leave the territory for the purpose of defrauding his creditors. The case was tried before Justice Kroeger, who gave judgment against the defendant for the amount claimed, but discharged him on the latter charge. Subsequently Brennan was arrested on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses and was taken before Justice Looking, who also discharged him. Yesterday he filed suit against G. W. Norrell, D. S. Whitehorn and Morris Livingston, claiming $250.00 as damages on undertaking.

Police Court Pickings.

The complaints withdrew the charge of malicious mischief preferred against J. N. Leiger and William Heiler, and the case was dismissed.

"Jim Crow," a vicious looking cripple who struck the city a couple of days ago and celebrated the event by setting drunk and raising a disturbance on Commercial street, said he was on his way to Butte, and the judge allowed him to go.

James E. Meyers was discharged, although he pleaded guilty to being drunk.

Ralph Jewett was charged with being drunk and exposing his person. He pleaded guilty to the first charge, but knew nothing about the latter. He was fined $5.

William Teasdale had a dispute in a saloon with another man about some money due, and said he only shoved him, but the officer said he struck the man, was noisy and resisted arrest. He was taken $5.

Arthur Williams, who was up a few days since for vagrancy, and said he could produce $15,000 in half an hour, was again in the toils, this time for petit larceny. He pleaded guilty and was fined $25. As he was being led away he told the judge he had $100 at the Western Union Telegraph office. He is undoubtedly crazy, and should be sent to some institution to be cared for.

John Kirkwood forfeited $10 for using abusive language.

George Harbottle was fined $5 for being drunk and abusive.

The case of William Howard, charged with petit larceny, was continued until today.

George Burns, James Burns, Charles Burns, E. O. Brine, W. Waite, A. Frank Raymond and James Callahan were charged with trespass and sentence was set for 10 o'clock today.

Louis Hobbs was fined $15 for having his saloon open last Sunday. A notice of appeal was given, and the bond prepared.

The Run of the Courts.

A suit was yesterday filed by Simon F. Machie against Oliver S. Bowman to recover the sum of $35.

The Unique Printing company obtained judgment yesterday before Justice Kroeger against E. Bowman for $10.

George W. Willis, an assignee of Marks & Co., filed suit yesterday in Justice Geo's court against J. McElmish for $50.50.

The case of Ed. L. Butterfield vs. the Mountain and Cold Storage company, involving $200.00, has been postponed until Aug. 1.

Eight dollars and ninety cents is the amount involved in a suit brought yesterday by S. Cunningham against J. D. Stauffer.

Mrs. M. A. Smith has brought suit before Justice Hall against Emma Harrell for $15, which she alleges is due for board and lodging.

L. C. Crossman has brought suit against Neigh Miller for $30, and against Christ Meier for $15. The case will be tried before Justice Geo.

The Salt Lake Building and Manufacturing company filed suit yesterday against E. Richards for $25.00 for building materials furnished defendant.

Judgment was rendered yesterday by Justice Hall in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Studebaker Bros. vs. C. M. Hanson. The amount of the judgment was $24.00.

The demurrer in the case of Lydia L. Duncan vs. the Riverside Irrigation company has been withdrawn, and leave given to amend the complaint. The case will be heard July 27.

Henry Monheim brought suit yesterday against Orville P. Pratt et al. to recover $2,500 due on a promissory note, which is secured by mortgage. The usual decree of sale is asked for.

Harry R. Browne has sued the Studebaker Bros. Manufacturing company for services rendered as an expert accountant in checking up and ascertaining errors and discrepancies in their account books. The claim is for $57.

The case of C. M. Carr vs. M. Dillon occupied the attention of Commissioner Booth yesterday. The suit was for a dental bill of $145, which was disputed and $75 tendered in payment. The trial was by jury, and a verdict returned in favor of the plaintiff for $81.51.

OXFORD, IDAHO.

Opening of a New Flouring Mill—Capacity 250 Barrels Daily.

Correspondence of THE HERALD.

The opening of the new flouring mill, belonging to H. O. Harkness, esq., at McCammon, Idaho, was a grand success. There were about four hundred and fifty guests, from all parts of the state, that tripped the light fantastic to the strains of music of the Christiana, Oden band. Our host, Mr. Harkness, was immense in his lavish display of luxuries. Over four hundred partook of an elegant supper at the expense of our worthy host. The new mill was elegantly draped with the national colors, and brilliant and Chinese lanterns were everywhere. In fact it was a grand affair.

The mill power will be propelled by the falls in Portneus river. The capacity is about two hundred and fifty barrels of flour per day, the power of the falls is to the extent of about five thousand horse power. The ranch of Mr. Harkness is one of the finest in the state of Idaho.

A GUEST.

OXFORD, Idaho, July 20, 1892.

IN REMEMBRANCE.

But yesterday I gazed on the still form of one who today fills an untimely grave. One whom, from intimate acquaintance and long association, I had learned to love for his many noble qualities of mind and heart.

The hier was draped with beautiful flowers and each bud and leaf shed its sweet perfume, like a benediction, over him, was a tribute of affection, a heart offering from many who had known and loved him well. That he had faults, I will not deny. Who of us that has not? That he possessed great virtues, many who knew him well are ready to affirm. Now that he is gone, who can name a wrong that he did him? We all could see his noble weakness, but few knew of his hidden strength; his great patience and tenderness toward the afflicted, and his gentle thoughtfulness for the comfort and happiness of those about him. To sorrow or want was to win his ready sympathy and assistance. He was no coward, and when his heart ached he suffered alone, for he was too true to parade his pain to the thinking public. He fought bravely against weakness and temptation. That he did not wholly succeed was not his fault, but rather an affliction. Mine is not perfect, and where one is strong another is weak. He had fewer faults than most men. He is gone, and there is a void in the hearts of those who loved him which time can never fill. Of him it can truthfully be said he had many friends. If he had enemies, I do not know them. He was a man of peace, and those who knew him best loved him most. Let the thoughtless assail him as they ever will the defenseless, they can do him no harm. He loved both home and aid; he has ascended from human judgment into the presence of one who is just and merciful. All is well with Harry. It will be happily and joyfully said by all who knew him and who have paid the last tribute to happy imperfection, it can be as truly said of us as of him, "His faults were few, his virtues many. May he rest in peace."

Bear him gently, do not wake him; Lay him quietly away.

Where the stars at night keep vigil, May the softest light shine by his dir.

Fair flowers bloom o'er his breast, And bright sunbeams of returning.

Sing sweet requiems of rest.

Nervous Debility.

DR. E. C. WEST'S NERVE AND BRAIN TREATMENT.

A new and complete treatment consisting of suppositories, cataplasms, incisions, also in box and pills; a positive cure for external, internal, chronic, and acute diseases of the brain, spinal cord, and nerves, and many other diseases and female weaknesses. It is always a great benefit to the patient. The discovery of a medical cure rendering an operation with the knife unnecessary. This remedy has been used with success to cure the most obstinate cases of nervous debility, and where one is strong another is weak. He had fewer faults than most men. He is gone, and there is a void in the hearts of those who loved him which time can never fill. Of him it can truthfully be said he had many friends. If he had enemies, I do not know them. He is gone, and there is a void in the hearts of those who loved him which time can never fill. Of him it can truthfully be said he had many friends. If he had enemies, I do not know them. He was a man of peace, and those who knew him best loved him most. Let the thoughtless assail him as they ever will the defenseless, they can do him no harm. He loved both home and aid; he has ascended from human judgment into the presence of one who is just and merciful. All is well with Harry. It will be happily and joyfully said by all who knew him and who have paid the last tribute to happy imperfection, it can be as truly said of us as of him, "His faults were few, his virtues many. May he rest in peace."
